Realtor, Luxury Real Estate Consultant, Certified Paralegal, Marketing and Public Relations Maven; Alana's decade of experience in all aspects of real estate allows her to service her clients at the highest level. In San Diego's sophisticated and highly competitive high-end markets, clients need an expert in determining value, strong negotiation and communication skills, and the ability to execute details.

TRULY EQUIPPED

Working alongside award winning professionals in the luxury market, Alana is truly equipped to handle today's globally minded buyer and seller. Drawing upon her vast well of multi-million-dollar real estate history along with new construction development, she has helped represent many of the wealthiest clients from across the United States buying and selling real estate.

In the past 18 months, Alana served as the Marketing and Operations Director for a luxury division within Pacific Sotheby's International Realty, and assisted in selling just over $80M, including two homes over $10M. Additionally, in March of this year she assisted in selling the highest priced home ever in Rancho Valencia, Rancho Santa Fe.

BEYOND THE BUSINESS

Although Alana might find the most solace on a hiking trail, she's just as much at ease with a real estate transaction. If you have the pleasure of meeting this bubbly soul, this means she is already looking out for you and making your life easier.
